De Gaulle and Dulles Conclude Formal Talks

Officials Silent About Topics Taken Up at Conference

Paris—(AP)—Secretary of State Dulles and Premier De Gaulle completed their formal conferences today with a half-hour private conversation at the premier's official residence.

Both were grave-faced when they said goodbye.

De Gaulle walked with Dulles to the automobile waiting to take the secretary back to the U. S. embassy. The premier, holding his heavy, horn-rimmed spectacles in his hand, gestured emphatically. Dulles looked extremely serious.

Neither French nor American officials gave any indication of what Dulles and De Gaulle talked about while they were alone, first inside the official residence and later in the garden.

Dinner for Dulles

The morning conference, attended by aides of both men, covered a number of topics—strategic developments in Europe, and the situation in the Middle East among others.

Dulles' remaining appointments were with Maurice Couve de Murville, French foreign minister, and Paul-Henri Spaak, secretary general of the North Atlantic Treaty organization.

Thereafter, he was to be guest of honor at a dinner by U. S. Ambassador Amory Houghton. De Gaulle was not scheduled to be present but the foreign minister and other government officials and other government officials were invited.

Mrs. Lochman and four companions in the boat were taken from the water by two other boat operators. Rescued were her brother, Joseph Prowitz, 46, Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Johnson, 44 and 47, and their daughter, Cynthia, 5, of Bartlett, Ill.

Roswell, N. M.—(AP)—A 10-year-old boy was killed and two other boys were injured, one critically, when a race car went out of control and plunged into a watching crowd yesterday.

State police said 2,000 persons watched a hot-rod car driven by Ronald M. Campbell, 24, Roswell, go out of control on a turn and smash into the crowd, killing Danny Lee Daniels.

Rate of Traffic Deaths Spurs, Then Slows Up

Russians Use Bomb Hoax as Propaganda

BY JAMES F. KING

London—(AP)—A jobless farm worker who was discharged by the Royal Air Force for mental instability said today he signed his name and address to a letter saying a U. S. pilot would drop an A-bomb near England.

But the photostatic copy which the Soviet embassy released two days after receiving the letter was signed only "W."

British newspapers suggested the Russians had pulled a political trick in publicizing the letter while knowing it to be a hoax in order to serve their propaganda campaigns. In reporting it to the British foreign office, Soviet officials said it was "probably a hoax" but didn't mention knowing the writer's name and address.

Writer Identified

A small-town British reporter tracked down the letter writer yesterday. He was William Stanley Whales, 34, of Ipswich, who hasn't been near a war plane for almost a year.

When police questioned Whales today, he denied any political motive but said he only wanted to attract attention to his grievances against the British government. Police let him go home without bringing any charges against him.

Whales told newsmen he wrote Soviet Ambassador Jacob Malik three letters. One was the threat to drop an A-bomb, another protested his failure to get a gratuity after the RAF discharged him and the third complained that the government had requisitioned his father's farm.

The Soviet press attache who made public the one letter was not available today and no one at the embassy was commenting. Moscow radio said in an English-language to Britain that U. S. pressure might force the British government to declare the letter a forgery even if it proved genuine.

In a written confession given to the Ipswich reporter, Whales accused the Russians of altering the meaning of the publicized letter by omissions.

Kills 4 of Family, Takes Own Life

Glen Ridge, N. J.—(AP)—A drug salesman, perhaps brooding over his mother's health, poisoned her and the three members of his immediate family yesterday. Then he killed himself with a hypodermic injection.

Authorities said Thomas MacDowell, a drug company sales executive, apparently had let his Brazilian-born wife in on plans to wipe out his family.

She, their two young sons, MacDowell and his mother were found dead in their modest home in this wealthy, suburban community. All but MacDowell were dressed in night clothes and were lying on beds.

Carolina 'Phantom' Aims View on Police

Raleigh, N. C.—(AP)—State highway patrolmen had an idea for stretching manpower on the crowded highways yesterday.

They put a mannequin in uniform in a patrol car, parked it by the road and laid an imitation radar speed measurement tape across the highway.

Checking the spot later, they found this note on the windshield: "All cops are dummies like this one." Signed, "The Phantom."

Goldfine Set To Resume His Testimony

Says He's Looking Forward to Another Appearance Tuesday

Washington—(AP)—Bernard Goldfine, resting after two days of testimony, says he's looking forward to another appearance Tuesday before a house subcommittee investigating his troubles with federal agencies.

But the Boston textile manufacturer didn't say how far he would go in providing the subcommittee with details of $776,000 of uncashed checks. Investigators say his companies have issued the checks over a 16-year period.

Goldfine talked pleasantly but hurriedly with newsmen yesterday as he and his wife strode toward a plane which took them to Boston for the weekend. He traveled without the battery of attorneys who curbed his interviews on his arrival and during much of his stay in the capital.

Treated Fairly "I'm looking forward to my return very much," he said, adding that he'd be back a day ahead of his scheduled date with the subcommittee.

"I think very well of the committee," he commented. "I think I've been treated very fairly."

Goldfine balked Thursday at giving the house investigators any information about the uncashed checks. He said that wasn't pertinent to the subcommittee's investigation. He held to that stand despite the group's insistence that it—not he—should determine what was pertinent.

The subcommittee, in a general investigation of the work of federal regulatory agencies, is currently checking charges that Goldfine received favored treatment because of his friendship with Presidential Aide Sherman Adams. Adams and Goldfine have denied the favored treatment charge, although Adams has told of receiving expensive favors from Goldfine.

15 Dead, 38 Hurt in Yugoslav Bus Tragedy

Belgrade—(AP)—A passenger bus hurtled off a mountain road in southern Yugoslavia last night and plunged 1,000 feet down a precipice into a farm cottage. Fifteen persons perished and 38 were hurt.

Early yesterday morning the big $1,700,000 plane radioed it had a runaway engine, could not feather the prop, was losing oil and asked permission to land at tiny Johnston island 200 miles ahead. It was not heard from again.

James Fulton Foster, 40-year-old Greer, S. C., house painter, is shown with his wife, Irene, and daughter Elizabeth Ann, 14, one of the couple's seven children. Foster twice sentenced to death for the robbery-slaying of Charles Drake, Jefferson, Ga., merchant in 1956, saw the way to life and freedom opened today when Charles (Rocky) Rothschild, former Cairo, Ill., policeman, confessed the crime. Expected to About Equal Predictions

New York—(AP)—Traffic deaths piled up at a record clip Saturday as the half-way mark was passed in the 3-day Independence day weekend.

Safety officials saw a glimmer of hope, however, in the grim statistics. The death rate eased a little after racing through the Fourth at a pace far above estimates made by the National Safety Council.

By late morning, 158 traffic fatalities had been reported. There were 63 drownings and 36 deaths from miscellaneous causes, for a total of 257 deaths.

The safety council has forecast a record high 410 deaths during the 78-hour period. At the midway point, fatalities were in line with advance estimates.

"Deaths are running tragically on schedule," said Ned H. Dearborn, safety council president. But as huge as the death toll is, it is running at a rate slightly lower than during the early hours of the holiday. We urge drivers to continue to use every possible precaution to bring the toll down."

Record in 1955

During the first half of the observance, highway deaths ran one-sixth ahead of those occurring during the recent Memorial day weekend. That observance was marred by 371 traffic deaths, a record for a 3-day Memorial day holiday.

The previous record 3-day weekend toll for a July Fourth

Rain Keeps Toll Down in State

Milwaukee—(AP)—Rainy weather spoiled many a holiday outing in Wisconsin Friday but also may have saved lives. Only one traffic death was recorded in the state on the Fourth of July.

Counting another fatality resulting from an accident Thursday, the state's 1958 death toll reached 346 compared with 375 on this date one year ago.

Daniel Wescott, 56, who lived in the town of South Branch on the Menominee Indian reservation, was killed Friday in a 3-car collision at Berry lake near Shawano.

Mrs. Alma Seefeld, 79, of Milwaukee, died Friday of injuries suffered Thursday morning when she was struck by a car while walking across the street.

Observance was 407 deaths in 1955. A 4-day July Fourth holiday period claimed a record 491 in 1950.

Generally fair weather greeted motorists clogging the highways Friday during the early hours of the weekend. But, thunderstorms and showers put a damper on driving conditions Friday night.

Some 45 million cars were expected to roll up 12 billion miles on the nation's highways, according to a safety council estimate, for the holiday period—from 6 p.m. local time Thursday to Sunday midnight.

The record low July Fourth 3-day toll since World War II was 255 deaths in 1947.

The Associated Press made a survey of traffic fatalities during a non-holiday weekend for a comparison with the current holiday period. It covered the 78-hour period from 6 p.m. June 19 to midnight Sunday, June 22. It showed 339 traffic fatalities, 118 drownings and 63 deaths from miscellaneous type accidents—a overall total of 520.

Fireworks Factory Explodes in Oregon

Child Killed, Over Score Hurt, Dwellings Wrecked

Portland, Ore.—(AP)—A fireworks plant exploded with the fury of a bomb on the outskirts of Portland early today. One child was killed, more than 20 were injured and a score of homes were wrecked by the blast.

The charred body of a child, first believed to be a girl, was found in the wreckage of the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Howe. The Howes, who lived directly behind the big storage plant, were hospitalized for treatment of cuts and burns. A minister at the hospital said they had been asking about a missing child.

Of the 22 hospitalized, eight—including the Howes—were held for treatment. The others were given first aid and then released.

The signal fireworks storage plant—two buildings 100 feet long—blew up with a thunderous roar that awakened most of the city at 1:45 a.m.

The explosion smashed doors and windows of a nearby motel and lifted off part of the roof. Debris from the wrecked plant and houses covered the streets around them.

The heaviest damage was confined to a 2-block area around the fireworks plant, but smashed windows were reported 30 blocks away.

Elderly residents of a nursing home a block away were removed temporarily from the building. Some were in a state of shock.

Fire Marshal Dale Gilman said there was no way of knowing immediately what caused the explosion. Howard Grahs, Portland, owner of the plant,

Parents Who Left Children Offered Jobs, Home on Ranch

Los Angeles—(AP)—Job opportunities and even life on a ranch were offered today to parents who left their six children behind and went looking for a job.

Authorities said Ollen Lovell, 30, an unemployed laborer, and his wife, Joy, 28, left the youngsters at home Thursday along with this note:

"We can't stand seeing the kids go hungry any longer. We've decided to leave them and try to find a job so we can take care of them right."

"Please call police to pick them up, and tell the kids we love them and we'll be back as soon as we can get a place to live and work."

The parents have not been seen since. Dick Rand, a construction company owner, said his 2,500-acre ranch near Perris, 80 miles east of here in Riverside county, is available to the entire Lovell family.

"It would be a wonderful spot to raise the children," he said. "There is a vacant house waiting for them there right now." William Tesser, manager of a Redondo Beach restaurant, offered employment to Lovell and his wife.

New Effort to Free Hostages

Consul Prepares For Contact With Cuban Insurgents

Havana—(AP)—U. S. Consul Park Wollam prepared today for another effort to win release of 45 North Americans kidnapped by Cuban rebels.

Wollam returned to the U. S. Navy base on Guantanamo bay in eastern Cuba last night after reporting to the American embassy here on his first venture into the jungles to seek freedom for rebel captives.

The diplomat brought back Wednesday four Americans and one Canadian after his first negotiations with rebel Raul Castro. Raul's brother Fidel, the leader of rebels trying to overthrow President Fulgencio Batista, reportedly ordered Raul to release the other 43 Americans and two Canadians he was holding, but apparently something went wrong.

Talks Underway Wollam would only say, "it is my intention to resume contact with the rebel forces in the near future." He declined to specify exactly when.

U. S. Ambassador Earl E. T. Smith said delicate new negotiations were underway but refused to give details or say what Wollam had reported to him.

Robert Wiecha, U. S. vice consul to Wollam at Santiago, was reported still in the mountainous jungles around Guantanamo bay after almost a week's efforts to free 30 servicemen from the big American base.

Meanwhile, rebel sources in Havana predicted that Fidel Castro might be about to launch new efforts to overthrow Batista. Since rebel defeats in April Castro has limited himself to small-scale actions in Oriente province of eastern Cuba.

Confession by Ex-Policeman Will Free Man Facing Electric Chair

Jefferson, Ga.—(AP)—For the first time in nearly two years the shadow of the electric chair no longer darkens the life of a slim, mild-mannered South Carolina house painter and father of seven children.

James Fulton Foster, 40, of Greer, S. C., is still in jail at Jefferson, but now he can count the days until his release.

Authorities say that it will be perhaps 10 days before legal technicalities are cleared up.

The door to freedom was opened for him yesterday when Charles Paul "Rocky" Rothschild, a 33-year-old former Cairo, Ill., patrolman, confessed the killing of a Jefferson merchant.

Foster twice was sentenced to die in the electric chair for that crime—in September, 1956, and again this June. Both times appeals delayed his execution.

word statement at Columbia, S. C., where he is serving a 5-year burglary conspiracy sentence. In the statement he detailed how he planned the robbery which resulted in the slaying of 80-year-old Charles Drake in June, 1956.

The former patrolman said that Foster's death sentence "has been constantly on my mind and conscience."

"What Foster means to me can be stated from the following Bible verse: St. Matthew 5:10, 'Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness' sake; for their's is the kingdom of heaven.'"

"Foster has definitely been persecuted," he continued. "May God return him to his wife and family and may he live a long and happy life."

Rothschild named A. D. Allen, a used car dealer at Windermere, Ga., as the finger man in the case. Allen now is in federal custody.

first year of a 5-year liquor case sentence

Alfred Quillian, solicitor general (prosecutor) of the Piedmont judicial circuit, said he would seek indictments against Rothschild and Allen at the August term of the county grand jury.

Foster appeared dazed when brought into a news conference at which Rothschild's confession was announced.

Tip From Safe-cracker "I don't know what to say. I'm dumbfounded," he said as he grasped the hands of Sheriff John B. Brooks of Jackson county, attorneys and other well wishers.

James Horace Wood, one of Foster's attorneys, said the first real break came when an itinerant safe-cracker in a jail near Atlanta said Rothschild mentioned several times that he had killed a man in Jefferson, Ga.

While Wood followed this lead, Foster continued to maintain he was innocent.

Truck Carrying Cheese Tips Over In Ditch of 54

New London — A truck, carrying 34,000 pounds of cheese, from Portage to Green Bay, went into the ditch and tipped over Wednesday morning when it ran onto the soft shoulder on Highway 54, about two miles east of New London.

Charles Moyer, Medford, driver of the truck, said another car was coming down the middle of the road and he pulled over too far. He said that when the wheels hit the soft shoulder, they pulled the truck into the ditch.

Although the tractor of the truck was badly damaged, there was only minor damage to the trailer. The truck was owned by the C. J. Berst company, Medford.

Lesson in English

BY W. L. GORDON
WORDS OFTEN MISUSED: Either "Helpmate" or "Helpmeet" is correct. Both usually mean wife, but at times refer simply to a fellow or companion or helper.
OFTEN MISPRONOUNCED: Rarefied. Pronounce in THREE syllables as rare-ee-fied, and not rare-fied.
OFTEN MISSPELLED: Pearl (precious stone). Purl (to swirl).
SYNONYMS: Catastrophe, cataclysm, denouement, disaster, misfortune, mishap.
WORD STUDY: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day.

When Forster takes over the new post, the association's headquarters will be located at Madison, where Forster formerly was mayor. He left Madison to become city manager of Janesville, from where he moved to his present post at Des Moines. Forster's future work will include the duties of the present association secretary, George S. Updegraff, Wauwatosa, who has said he will resign, effective Jan. 1.

New Range Eases Oven Cleaning — No need to clean the oven or scour the pan after broiling in this 1958 Frigidaire electric range, says Home Appliance company, 225 W. College avenue, local Frigidaire dealer. Secret is a spatter-free broiler pan with high sides which eliminates oven spattering and concentrates searing heat on meat. The pan needs no scrubbing, the firm points out, because the bottom is water-cooled, keeping melted fat fluid so it can be poured out after broiling. Doneness of steaks is controlled automatically by setting a dial to well-done, medium or rare. The pan is available with new Frigidaire ranges, as well as with Frigidaire's 1958 single and double built-in wall ovens. Phone number of the firm is RE 3-4406.

Another Example of the beautiful effect possible to achieve with the use of Craftstone, inexpensive facing for homes and business buildings, is this picture of a popular Menasha market. The food store presents an attractive, easy-to-maintain face to the public. Such beautiful facings need not necessarily be expensive, points out Andrew Marske, 1631 So. Cornell street, owner of the firm which applies Craftstone exterior finishes. Over 120 buildings and homes in the Appleton area have been finished with Craftstone within the past four years, Marske says. The simulated stone facing is applied with a trowel and the finish coat is cut by hand. It is as reasonable in cost as clapboard siding as a home facing, he explains. Phone number to call for further information or an estimate on Craftstone for your home or building is RE 3-4991.

Many other home facings of this type are applied to the customer's house with the use of forms, Marske said Friday. Application with a trowel, he believes, is more satisfactory from the standpoint that it makes individual attention possible to every detail of the application, guaranteeing a better-looking job when completed.

frame or cinder block construction. The applications of Craftstone to your home, says Marske, eliminates all future upkeep on the exterior portion of the house a side from the trim and window frames. Its use immediately beautifies and modernizes a home's exterior while eliminating all upkeep costs for years to come.

Where the Newspapers Stand

What the public thinks of newspapers is always a matter of interest to people in the newspaper business. It may be of interest to others also, since people with opinions usually like to know what the other fellow thinks.

The Gallup Poll has just completed a year-long study of this subject. Emery Ruby, editor of the poll, says the careful study of the opinions of 9,000 persons shows that 43 per cent of Americans consider the newspaper the best source of world news, while 28 per cent favor television, 26 per cent radio and 5 per cent news magazines. In the matter of local news 61 per cent view newspapers as the best source of information as against 26 per cent for radio and 10 per cent for television.

Those interviewed ranked their spheres of interest, putting health first, education second, then religion, "the pocketbook," personal views, and people. It is doubtful if the news editors arrange the news in that order, but however they do it it must be all right for only one person in 10 who takes a daily newspaper fails to read it while more than two out of 10 who have television sets fail to turn them on during a particular day, and three out of 10 who have radio sets may not use them, the study indicates.

It is indicated that there were 101 million civilian adult persons in the United States in 1957. On a "typical day" of that year 72 million persons read a daily news-

The Declaration Today

The Theodore Roosevelt Centennial commission has made an effort to celebrate this Fourth of July in the old-fashioned manner of flags, parades and reconsideration of what actually inspired the birth and continued growth of this country. Its aim is to "review the foundations of freedom, renew the individual's faith in freedom, respond to the challenge of freedom, accept the responsibilities of freedom, and give the heart to America, the symbol of freedom."

This is a large order, not to be accomplished in one day even to counteract the supposed influence of the communist May-day on naive and neutral peoples of the world. But it is most definitely of continuing importance that we do take another look at that which we have, how it was struggled for and handed to us, and how big the job of hanging on to it has become.

'Hope Springs Eternal . . .'

In an editorial reprinted elsewhere on this page the editor of the Knoxville Journal states that although Tennesseans, like everybody else, like to sell their products abroad "this doesn't mean . . . that in order to sell abroad we have to open up all our domestic markets to foreign producers." Our border state colleague argues that we can raise tariffs and have international trade too.

But while the Knoxville editor states this hypothesis eloquently he gives no facts to back it up. The reason, of course, is that he can't. Any kind of trade is a two-way street; you don't get something for nothing. Obviously foreigners are not going to take our goods unless we take some of theirs in return. Another way of putting this is that people in other countries must have dol-

Driver Training in Appleton

The long-disputed question of whether behind-the-wheel driver training should be offered to high school students in Appleton has, we think, been answered in a very satisfactory manner by the inauguration this year of a summer behind-the-wheel program under the auspices of the vocational school.

Practically everyone is in favor of driver training for our young people; the shocking highway accident statistics in general, and in particular those that show a high percentage of youthful drivers involved in accidents, are enough to convince almost anybody that we should do a better job teaching our children good driving habits and techniques. The problem has been working such a program into the high school curriculum; while a good many of the state's high schools have managed to do so many educators and parents still question the advisability of adding still one more "practical" course of this nature into an already too crowded curriculum.

Appleton's answer is found in the new course offered by the vocational school. It provides six hours of behind-the-wheel training, plus 12 hours of classroom work for those who need it (those who have paper, 55 million listened to radio news and 38 million watched TV news.

Newspapers also received a vote of confidence in the survey for accuracy. Those polled were asked, "In things that you know about personally, has your newspaper got all the facts straight?" Seventy per cent of those asked said the newspapers were accurate in reporting, while 26 per cent said they were inaccurate and 6 per cent answered, "Can't say." In addition 84 per cent said the newspapers have a responsibility to the community to tell what is wrong with it and needs correction. This is a very interesting comment and it is also the complete answer to those politicians who want to run things their own way. Often their first shout is that the newspapers are trying to run things. Most people — 72 million out of 101 million adults — read the newspapers for information, and 84 per cent of them want the newspapers to comment on the right and wrong of things.

The poll found that most of those interviewed were "fuzzy" about the meaning of "freedom of the press." That is to be expected. For freedom of the press is a fairly technical subject. It is not necessary for readers to know a technical definition of that term if they know what the practical meaning of the term is as the people interviewed have indicated they do. They evidently want newspapers that are free to gather and publish the news and to comment upon it. That is the fruit of "freedom of the press."

The commission quotes Theodore Roosevelt as emphasizing that "each one of you carries on your shoulders not only the burden of doing well for the sake of your own country, but the burden of doing well and of seeing that this nation does well, for the sake of mankind."

And here, indeed, is the meat and the challenge. Everyone who considers himself entitled to the rights of liberty must accept the responsibilities. This means dedicated public service, and understanding of campaign issues above all. Let not Americans, lulled by ease and comfort, be accused as were the British at the time of our Revolution of losing the love of freedom, "the spirit of just resentment." Our government and our nation belongs to us and not one of us can afford to disown the mistakes and the tyrannies any more than the privileges and immunities.

lars if they want to buy American goods, and the only way they can get dollars is by selling something to us. (Or, of course, we can simply hand them the dollars as we have been doing in our foreign aid programs.)

The tariff issue, today as always, is a complex one and many strong arguments can be made in favor of protectionism. But one argument that does not hold water — and most protectionists admit this — is that we can reduce imports and maintain or increase exports over any extended period. It just can't be done.

The Tennessee editor's view is a modern version of the old dream of being able to eat one's cake and keep it too. Hope certainly springs eternal in some editors' breasts.

taken the classroom work offered at the high school can skip this part). The fee is modest, and the quality of instruction undoubtedly is in keeping with the vocational school's high reputation in all its fields of instruction.

Thus students who really want to learn how to drive well can do so in the summertime without using precious hours of the regular school year. A great complaint of teenagers being that there is "nothing to do" once school lets out, it seems to us sensible to offer not only driver training but perhaps many other so-called practical courses at this time of year. Another advantage of this program is that it is open to parochial school students, plus adults who wish to take advantage of it.

And we hope a great many students, and adults who have never learned to drive or think they can still learn something about it, will take advantage of this course. In this era when Americans travel on wheels more than any other people in history we all owe it to society to be as safe and legal drivers as possible, to say nothing of the obligation we owe ourselves and our families to stay out of the accident reports if at all possible.

These are Reasons Red Propaganda Is Successful

Successes are Quickly Given To the World

By ANTHONY NUTTING
Anthony Nutting, former British Minister of State for Foreign Affairs, is a special writer for the New York Herald Tribune.

On the face of things, it may seem to some people disquieting that, among the countries covered by a recent Herald Tribune World Poll, only in Britain has the proportion of people who believe Russian propaganda to be more effective than American increased in the last year almost 3-fold.

This news points a moral and calls for some qualification. It does not mean that the British public is going overboard with admiration for soviet achievements or getting itself sold on Mr. Khrushchev's peace campaign. It probably does mean that in Britain people care more and think more than most other nations about how their American partner is making out in the great struggle against the Soviet Union.

Moral of the Poll

This brings me to the moral which the poll points. As I learned from the harsh but healthy experience of directing the British government's foreign-information services for five years, propaganda is but the outward reflection of policy and performance. If the policy is wrong and the performance weak, no amount of propaganda can cover up.

If the United States stopped buying raw materials in South America and unemployment resulted, it is useless for American information officers to tell the people of these countries that America still loves them. If the soviets beat the United States to the punch with the Sputniks, their propagandists are going to have things all their own way and American propagandists are not going to catch up with them until American scientific achievement catches up with the Russians.

Nowhere in the world are these truths truer than in Britain where practical performance is revered as highly as pure propaganda is suspected. The lyrics of one of the songs from "My Fair Lady," "Don't talk . . . show me," might well be a national motto of a people inured to political propaganda whether foreign or domestic. If, as happens to be the case today, the Russians hold the initiative both in science, diplomacy and the struggle for the uncommitted nations, many a practically minded Britisher will admit that the soviets are handling themselves more cleverly than the west. Which is merely another way of saying that their propaganda is more effective.

But here come my qualifications, which further explain why so many in Britain as compared with other countries think the soviets are leading in this

Looking Backward
Cowardly Scamp Salts Ice Cream

79 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of July 5, 1879.

The other evening some cowardly thief gained access to the cellar of Mr. Hinchcliffe and salted a lot of ice cream on hand, rendering it useless.

The trick was done about half past 9 o'clock, during the time that he and his wife and daughter were busy with customers in the restaurant. It was not discovered until too late to prepare more for customers.

Mr. H. is a peaceable citizen without a known enemy in the world. Of course this cowardly attack affected his sensibilities greatly. This is about the meanest trick that could be perpetrated upon another, and it would be a good thing for the community if the scamp could be brought to a realizing sense of his pusillanimity before a bar of justice.

Saturday, July 1, 1933
Efforts were underway by prominent Wisconsin citizens to secure the appointment of Mayor John W. Goodland, Jr., as public works administrator of Wisconsin. A petition, containing more than 2,000 signatures, was in circulation here asking Mayor Goodland's appointment.

The nineteenth annual outing of the wholesale merchants and retail grocers of the Fox and Wolf river valleys was to be held at Sherwood Forest resort, Green Lake, July 12, according to I. D. Segal, Appleton, general chairman.

While excavating on S. Appleton street a city construction gang unearthed a large wooden cistern or tank, apparently many years old and used in the bygone days for fire protection purposes. It was found only three feet beneath the surface where the new curbstone was being laid, was constructed of 3-inch planks and was propped from the inside. It was said that the reservoir was more than 50 years old, but evidently it was discovered before, for a city water main passed through it.

10 YEARS AGO
Saturday, July 3, 1948

Lee James Sasman was elected as commander to Krause-Draft Post 106 of the American Legion, Seymour. He was a graduate of Seymour High school and served with the armed forces as sergeant at McCord field, Washington.

PFC Francis Fischer, Appleton, was graduated as a qualified parachutist at the airborne training center of the 11th Airborne division on the island of Saporu, off the Japanese mainland.

Miss Barbara Keller, Appleton, was to take over her duties Tuesday as the new playground leader at the Richmond school site. She succeeded Mrs. Arlyle Barr, who resigned.

The Wide Awake Forward 4-H club planned a picnic for July 11 at its meeting at the Archie Scheibe home, Appleton. Two members, Miss Marion Sommus and Charles Sommus, were to attend the county camp at Crooked lake in Shawano county July 18 through July 24.

A Country Can Trade, Still Protect Workers

From the Knoxville Journal.

In several speeches at east Tennessee points Sen. Albert Gore asserted that east Tennessee farmers would face "depression prices," or a cut of from one third to one half in acreage allotments "if we lost our foreign markets for tobacco."

At the same time it was pointed out by Sen. Gore's supporters that Japan, whose textile producers have put thousands of US workmen out of jobs, last year bought $21 millions of Tennessee products, running all the way from machinery to soy beans.

It is apparent that Sen. Gore and his newspaper spokesmen hereabouts are already bent on sending up a smoke screen on the reciprocal trade issue. They will attempt, during the campaign, to establish the notion that it makes no difference if thousands of Tennessee workers are thrown out of their jobs by reciprocal trade as it now exists because in some fields exports are bringing revenue into the state.

That bill of goods can't be sold to the worker who has lost his job as a result of Sen. Gore's free trade theory, or to the manufacturer who has had to close his factory down, or to the ordinary citizen who rouses himself to think about international trade.

Of course everybody wants to sell goods and products in the international markets. Naturally, we want to sell Tennessee products abroad if we have them in surplus. But this doesn't mean, and don't let Sen. Gore or anybody else fool you, that in order to sell abroad we have to open up all our domestic markets to foreign producers. It doesn't mean that we have to export the jobs of American workers to those in foreign countries in order to participate in international trade. It doesn't mean that we couldn't, if congress would it, give adequate protection to those industries and their workers who, by reason of differences in labor cost or other factors, are placed in a position where they can't compete.

Don't let anyone try to tell us that our own government, or that of any other country, can't decide what imports are to be brought in without a protective tariff and which ones shall come in on the Gore-free trade basis, if there is any obligation stronger than that of our government to protect the jobs of U. S. citizens, then we don't know what it is.

field. Far more than any other nation covered by the poll, Britain has world-wide interest and possessions, commercial and territorial, as well as strategic, without which she would be a third-class power. She depends for her life and livelihood upon her Asian and African markets, upon her investments in the developing areas which provide her raw materials, upon her share in the ownership of Middle Eastern oil.

Aware of Dangers

Any assault on these areas is a direct assault on Britain's capacity to feed and clothe and provide jobs for her 50,000,000 inhabitants. When a Britisher thinks of soviet propaganda, therefore, he measures it not so much by its effectiveness on a few left-wing cranks at home but on the impressionable adolescent peoples of Asia and Africa whose custom is essential to his survival. And who can doubt that since the Sputniks these people have been vastly impressed by soviet achievement?

So far as Soviet propaganda influences within Britain are concerned, the fact that such a high proportion of Britons realize what the Russians are up to is in itself reassuring. I would be far more worried if they did not recognize it as propaganda or were unconscious of the dangers of soviet sales talk.

To sum up, the message of this world poll for the west, and for America in particular as its leader, is simple but challenging: "Give your propagandists something to shout about and the world will listen with interest and not a little relief that the free world can do better than the tyrannies."

No Need to Talk
Defense Value of First Spaceships

From the Kansas City Times.

One United States spaceship already exists. The experimental X-15, which will be test-flown next year, is designed to penetrate interplanetary space. But it will not be able to orbit the earth like the current satellites. A second and more advanced spaceship, the Dyna-Soar, is expected to have that capability, which requires a speed of 17,000 miles an hour.

This will be an extraordinary feat. For the Dyna-Soar, like the X-15, will be manned. And there are numerous problems to be solved before man can fly far beyond the present all-time high speed of 1,800 miles an hour. That rate was achieved by the X-2 rocket plane in 1956.

The air force has now let its first contracts for the Dyna-Soar. The announcement notes that this craft will be an orbital bomber as well as a "space policeman." Some military men challenge the practicality of trying to aim bombs or missiles from outer space. They describe the accuracy problem as insurmountable. Of course it's necessary for the United States to plunge into the new realm of space science with such projects. But we don't see the point of trumpeting about the still vague defense purpose. The scientific value alone is enough to justify the effort. Big talk about the military angle is likely to spread international alarm over a completely untested idea. There's enough of such concern in the world today without adding to it needlessly.

Potomac Fever — by Fletcher Knebel

We Americans never say die. With acceptance of Alaska as a state, the union is taking new members about as fast as the Cubans and Russians are kidnapping them.

Boston promoter Fox threatens to sue Sherman Adams for $1 million. In the garment trade, they say this will make Adams the country's leading-coat-and-suit man.

The Russians begin talks with us in Geneva on banning H-bomb tests. The reds want an iron-clad inspection system—no inspection inside the iron curtain.

Southern congressmen complain that admission of Alaska to the union adds two more Yankee votes in the senate. Dixie theme song: "Forty-nine Stars Fell on Alabama."

Wardens Claim Swimming Top Drowning Cause

Urge Drivers to Watch for Deer on Northern Highways

Conservation wardens investigated 176 Wisconsin deaths by drowning in 1957, and found the most frequent cause was swimming.

Other chief causes are boating, fishing and skating, the department said in a summary of the wardens' inquiries.

Managers of the Woodruff fishery headquarters in Vilas county economized when they added a big log shelter for the muskellunge rearing ponds there. They took the logs from state-owned land nearby and used laborers from a state prison camp for a construction crew.

Again conservation department agents are urging great caution upon motorists traveling through rural Wisconsin and especially in the wooded areas. Aside from the hazards to drivers from collisions with roaming deer, each deer killed at this season also means the destruction of from one to three unborn fawns, they remind.

A Monroe county deer carrying four fawns is unofficially reported as setting a record for Wisconsin. Twins and triplets are common, and quadruplets have been recorded elsewhere, but not before this year in this state.

State forest protection headquarters officials have complained recently that increasing radio interference has hampered their communications on fire detection and suppression patrols.

Foresters sometimes disagree on the best spacing for forest plantations. The state recently set aside a study plot within the Black River state forest to observe the effects of various spacings in forest plantings.

Alexander Katovich is the new district forester for the state conservation commission in District 11, with headquarters at Wautoma, and Ronald Herman has been assigned to Appleton as an assistant district forester.

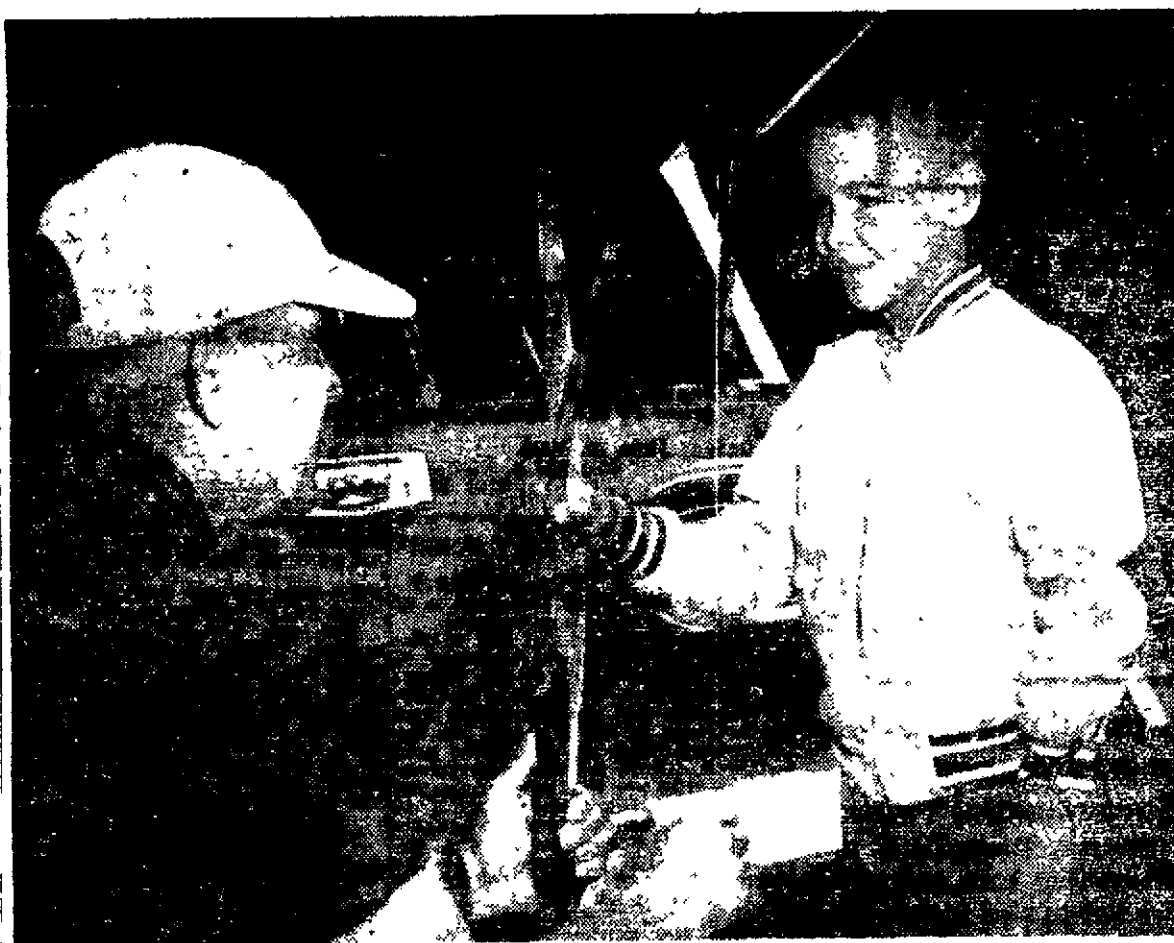

Denver Police Happy That Browne Belt Goes

Denver—(AP)—Policemen heartily endorsed an order by the manager of safety banning the Sam Browne belt as standard uniform equipment.

The belt and shoulder strap had been in use since 1932. An ordinary belt is all that's required now to hold the officer's pants and pistol.

Detective Julius Olsen, a 42-year veteran of the force, said he was especially happy to see the Sam Browne go.

"When you're patrolling a beat," Olsen said, "every time you try to break up a fight or arrest a drunk, the guy grabs you by the shoulder strap and

Enthusiasm Starts Early Among Central Wisconsin Archers. Finally! Taste Test for Fish

A panel of scientific tasters at the University of Wisconsin will probably prove what most fishermen have insisted for years—that the flavor of a fish is affected by the water from which it is taken and in which it has grown.

A fish tasting study has been underway for a year under the sponsorship of the state conservation department, with the university in charge of actual testing.

Sponsors recently decided to continue the investigation for another year to make results more conclusive.

The investigators are also curious, they said in a progress report, to determine by statistical analysis whether age, weight and sex of fish influence flavor and aroma under the conditions usually accompanying the use of fish in the ordinary household.

No Difference
The conservation department supplied samples of walleyed pike, northern pike and carp from various water sources to the university tasting panel, which was especially trained for the tasks assigned to it.

Here are the results, labeled preliminary and tentative:

Carp and walleyed pike showed "highly significant" differences in flavor and aroma from the various water sources.

Northern pike did not show differences of significance among the various water sources.

A greater number of undesirable flavors was found in fish taken from water below the entry of effluent from a paper mill than from other sources. All three varieties from this source were described as bitter, while fish taken from other sources did not show a particularly characteristic or dominant flavor.

Seek New Members to Take Part in YMCA Rifle Matches

The Appleton YMCA Junior Rifle club is seeking to recruit new talent for upcoming matches, according to Jack Frenzl, instructor.

Shooters who have helped the club establish notable wins in matches in Milwaukee are now over the maximum age limit, Frenzl said, and no longer eligible for competition.

A boy interested in shooting need not own a rifle. Shooting equipment is available at the club range in the Fraser Lumber company building where shooting is conducted each Monday evening.

The shooting periods from 6 to 8 o'clock weekly, are expertly supervised. Additional information can be obtained from the Appleton YMCA or by calling Frenzl or Joseph Strobl.

At the group's last meeting, Dennis Gillespie and John Clark, both of Appleton, received trophies for high scores and perfect attendance. The trophies were presented by Frenzl.

Such buildings are frequently razed or sold at the time the land is acquired, but some of them are retained.

The department, unlike others in the state government, provides living quarters for some of its agents stationed at remote places and also has service facilities on a decentralized basis.

Among the most important of the new field buildings is a new eastern Wisconsin headquarters building at Oshkosh. A similar building at Horicon is planned for the next year.

Carnival Magic Weather Unkind, but Park Show Continues

BY DAVID APKER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Old Man Weather was decidedly uncooperative Friday, but many Fox Cities residents still managed to get in a little fun at Pierce park Thursday evening and between showers on the Fourth of July.

The program, sponsored by the Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce, continues today and Sunday and has all the hurly-burly magic of an old-fashioned carnival.

Multi-colored bulbs lighted the midway as people found entertainment in rides and games. The scent of frying bratwurst hung over the area, drawing hundreds to an outdoor grill at the end of the midway.

Aboard the Rides
Young and old alike lined up in front of ticket windows for trips aboard carnival rides. For the youngsters there were kiddie rides and a gaily colored merry-go-round with its rollicking caliope music. The more adventurous souls sought the ferris wheel and the panoramic view of the midway it offered.

Others found the tilt-a-wheel to their liking. The wheel—a diabolical combination of a roller coaster and the inside of an automatic washing machine—brought screams from riders.

Carnival Sounds
Sounds of bursting balloons and the crack of small caliber rifles punctuated the air as visitors tried their luck with darts and in shooting galleries. Teen-age boys found a challenge in the traditional test of strength—trying to bring a mallet down hard enough to send a projectile up to ring a gong atop a 30-foot post.

Highlight of the program was a high wire act by the Sensational Kays. The Kays won rounds of applause as they cavorted on the wire and a dance routine and acrobatics on a bicycle brought gasps of admiration from watchers. Afternoon and evening performances display has been rescheduled for 9:30 tonight and Sunday night. The carnival is at Pierce park. (Post-Crescent Photo)

5 Women Get Divorces on Cruelty Counts

Five women have been granted absolute divorces in municipal court on charges of cruel and inhuman treatment.

Mrs. Patricia Fredericks, 24, Shiocion, and Kenneth Fredericks, 28, 122 N. Union street, were married in Appleton May 9, 1953, and separated last April. A property settlement was made and custody of one child given Mrs. Fredericks. Fredericks was ordered to pay $120 monthly support.

Mrs. Elaine Milbach, 28, 225 Grand street, Little Chute, and Richard Milbach, 25, Kaukauna, were married Nov. 3, 1956, in Seymour and separated last May 5. A property settlement was made, custody of one child was given Mrs. Milbach and $30 weekly support payments were ordered.

Mrs. Beulah Cumber, 26, 1473 are scheduled today and Sunday.

A fireworks display, rained out Friday night, will be held at 9:30 tonight and Sunday night. The midway opens at noon.

Your Problems

Ann on Side of Mom Who Puts Foot Down on Late TV Viewing

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: I'm a girl 15 and having an argument with my mother about my bedtime — of all things!

Mother says I should be in bed no later than 10:00 p.m. on school nights. I say a 15-year-old should be able to decide her own bedtime. Ann Landers: None of my girl friends have a set bedtime and I feel like a big baby.

In all fairness I should tell you that sometimes I get interested in a TV show that runs until midnight. It takes me about an hour to do up my hair and get my clothes ready for school the next day. My mother is forever nagging me about the circles under my eyes and yesterday she threatened to take the TV out of my bedroom. What do you think about a 15-year-old girl who is treated this way? — M.M.M.

If you're getting to bed at 1 a.m. on school nights it's much too late. Your mother knows what she's talking about. She's the one who has to pull you out of the sack in the morning — not your girl friends.

The amount of rest required varies with the individual. Some need more sleep than others. Trust your mother to know the score on this one.

DEAR ANN: What can I do about a neighbor who is an ordinary tramp? I wouldn't give a hang except she's neglecting her two little girls to the point where it is endangering their health. I've fed them many a supper when I noticed them sitting on the porch as late as 8:30, nibbling on raw potatoes and waiting for their mother to come home.

This woman is drunk from one day to the next. Her husband left her three years ago and she goes out with a different man every night. Last winter the children ran the streets with chicken pox until I called the Board of Health.

Should I mind my own business or call the authorities and report her? If so, what authorities should I call? When I think of the people in this world who would give anything to have children I could wring this mother's neck. Please advise me. — NEXT DOOR NEIGHBOR

Neglected children are the business of any good-hearted soul who is interested in helping them. By all means call the Child Welfare Association. They will investigate at once. If you can get the mother interested in A.A. you may be able to save an entire family.

DEAR ANN: My problem is of such an intimate nature I can't discuss it with anyone I know. Please help me think straight.

Six months ago I married a widower I'd known for less than a year. He's devoted to me, kind and generous. I consider myself very lucky. The problem is he has a 21-year-old son who returned recently from the service. I met the boy for the first time. I have a beautiful 19-year-old daughter by a former marriage. You can guess the rest.

These two young people are very fond of each other and this is no brother-sister relationship. My daughter has stopped dating other fellows and is with her step-brother constantly.

If the romance continues to bloom I'm afraid they may want to get married. Isn't this against the law? What shall we do? — M.L.D.

Your daughter and your husband's son are not blood relatives and they have every right to marry if they wish to.

Living under the same roof is bound to accelerate a romance. It would be wise if they didn't make any decisions for several months. The boy should date his former girl friends, and your daughter should not cut herself off from her former swains.

If after a reasonable period of time these two still feel they are meant for each other, there's no reason, legal or moral, why they should not marry.

Peninsula Players

Warm Comedy of 'Teahouse' Charms First Night Audience

BY WILLIAM WEAVER
Special to Post-Crescent

Fish Creek — A near-capacity first night audience Thursday evening received with enthusiasm the Peninsula Players' initial production of the 1958 season, "Teahouse of the August Moon."

It will be repeated at 8 o'clock and 9:30 this evening at the "theater in a garden," inaugurating the Players new schedule of two performances on Saturday nights. The play will end its run Sunday evening with the curtain going up at 7:30.

"Teahouse" is one of the very best comedies to find its way onto Broadway in a great many years. It completely lacks the brittle self-consciousness to which wit apparently has descended in our time. The abundant comedy of "Teahouse" grows directly and naturally out of character and situation.

It is effectively satirical, but never spiteful. It is warm and tender, but never grossly sentimental. Best of all, it is hilarious fun from beginning to end.

Top of Coat

William Munchow, as Sakini, and Maurice Ottinger, as Fisco, clearly stand at the top of an excellent cast in roles that demand understanding and skillful timing.

Harvey Korman, who's major job was directing the show, also cut a fine figure as the army psychiatrist, nutty on the subject of agriculture.

Fourteen-year-old Dounia Rathbone firmly upheld the tradition of an acting family, in playing the lovely Lotus Blossom.

One word about Designer Kurt Lundell's sets—the two side platforms, especially constructed for this production, seemed unnecessarily cramped. It was more than a little distracting to watch the actors squeezing in and out and jockeying for position.

These difficulties were more than outweighed, however, by the deftness and charm of the "Teahouse" illusion in the last act.

Mayor to Talk

Mayor Clarence Mitchell will discuss the city budget in an address to the Appleton Optimist club at the Elks club Monday noon.

Jean and Margaret Walter were named to take charge of the August social, with the assistance of the Mmes. Wilbert Ellenbecker, Elizabeth Gillespie and Russell Selig.

Committee assist Rev. Richard Gilsdorf of members will include Mrs. St. John Catholic parish, Little Chute, for his work with the migrant workers residing in the Wautoma and Door county areas. Father Gilsdorf serves seven as diocesan counselor for the aid program.

A white elephant sale will be featured at the park outing and proceeds will be donated to the new Appleton Catholic High school fund.

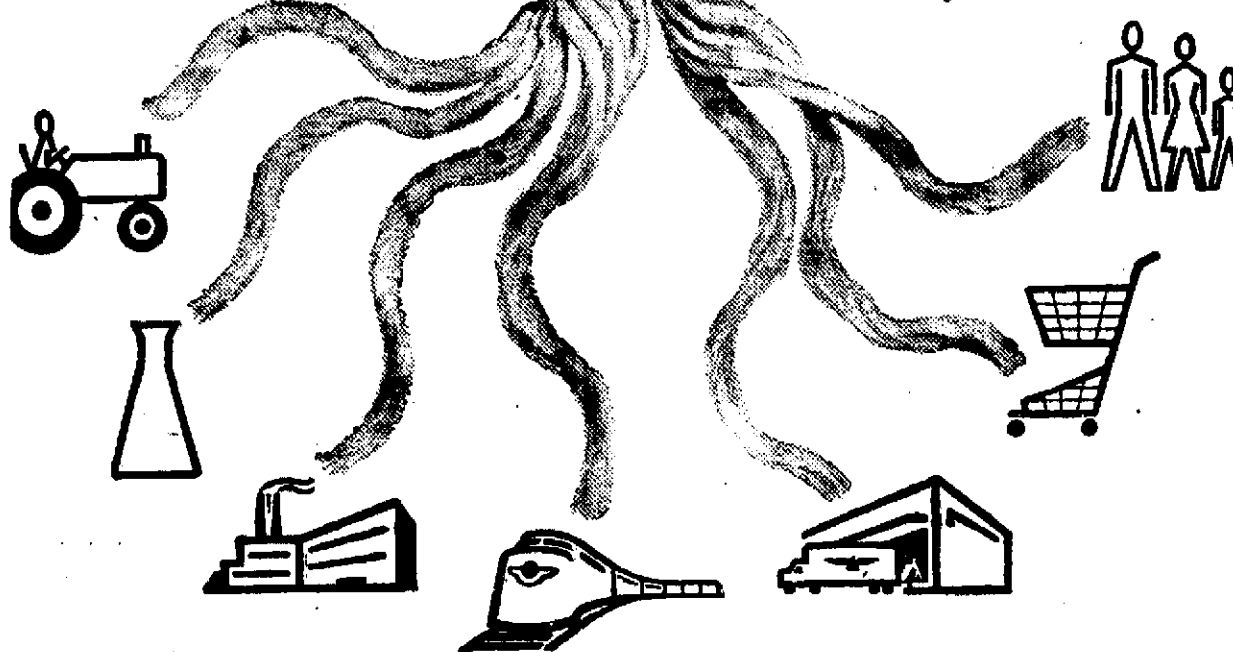

Mrs. Joseph Heid handled arrangements for an ice cream social which closed the meeting. Prize winners were the Mmes. Raymond Heegeman, Edward Horrig and Edward Massonette.

Salute to a LIFELINE

Our food industry is one of the wonders of the modern world. Before food in the field becomes fare on your table it must be harvested, inspected, processed, packaged and distributed. This is the lifeline of America.

Watching over this lifeline is the Grocery Manufacturers of America, Inc., a group of over 400 leading food companies. The GMA and others in the food business are constantly searching for ways to make your food better and more convenient to buy.

This year the GMA reaches its 50th birthday. The newspaper industry salutes the Grocery Manufacturers of America, Inc., for contributing so much to our high standard of living.

Probably nothing has changed more than the food field in giving so many new things to the American family. New products mean news. The best way to carry that news is in food ads and features appearing in the pages of your daily newspaper—another vital strand in the golden lifeline that nourishes the nation.

Plans for a Glorious Fourth spent outside dissolved for Fox Cities youngsters and their parents when they awoke Friday morning to find a steady rain falling. At Riverview Country club and North Shore Golf club, celebration of the holiday went on as planned—but indoors. Above, three little boys forgot their disappointment by playing "Drop the Clothespin" at North Shore Golf club. Ricky Seaborne, Menasha, right, attempts to score while John Buchanan, Neenah, left, and Chuck Seaborne, Menasha, wait their turn in the game. In top center photo, Linda Buchanan, Neenah, aims at the bean bag board, cheered on by Doris Warznik, also of Neenah, as the two play inside at North Shore.

A Dramatic Presentation Recalling the historical significance of Independence Day was featured on the evening program at Riverview Country club. In lower center photo, F. H. Sprowl, left, and Paul Truttschel appear in a skit, entitled "The Truth about the Fourth." Grape props place the scene as Concord, with a sawhorse depicting the famous bridge. Sprowl played the part of a Minuteman and Truttschel, that of a dead English soldier. At right, supper was served buffet style at Riverview, with the young school women assisting. The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

St. Matthew: When Christ said, "come, follow Me," Matthew, the tax collector, "rose and followed Him." With this tremendous affirmation of faith, Matthew became one of the 12 apostles and the author of the first gospel. He was present on the Mount of Beatitudes when Christ preached the Sermon on the Mount.

His account of it is considered one of the most magnificent passages in the New Testament. Matthew died a martyr to his fate in far off Parthia, where he had gone to preach Christ's message. (AP Newsfeatures)

In Good Taste

Proper to Have Dinner Divided

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper when two people dine together in a restaurant where the portions served are very large, for only one person to order a dinner and divide it? I have a very small appetite and couldn't possibly eat a whole dinner and it would be a waste to order it and leave most of it uneaten.

Answer: You may ask your waiter to serve one portion for two. This is not an unusual request for vegetables, potatoes or salad, and in many restaurants that serve very large portions, they will serve even the entree for two.

Asking For Invitation

Dear Mrs. Post: My fiance received an invitation to the wedding of a friend of his. Although I have never met this friend, he knows that we are engaged. However, I was not sent an invitation. My fiance has suggested calling his friend and asking if he might take me to the wedding. I do not think this the proper thing to do as it puts the person asked on the spot and he cannot say other than "yes." Will you please give me your opinion as to the correctness of this?

Answer: He may properly ask his friend if he will send you an invitation. He will then either send one to you or explain that the wedding is to be so small that he can invite no extra guests.

Notes From Bereaved

Dear Mrs. Post: We are a family of four married children, sons and daughters both, and a father. We've recently lost our mother and as we received some hundred messages of sympathy as well as floral pieces, we'd like to know how to acknowledge them all to include everyone.

Answer: The one who is the most intimate friend of each donor should write the note of thanks. This "note" need be no more than the fewest words written on a visiting card. It is entirely proper that one of the sons or daughters write thanks for the father.

Our Children

Enjoy Sports Within Rules, Patri Cautions Young People

BY ANGELO PATRI

All sports are played according to the rules. No rules, no sport.

One plays for the enjoyment of it and for the satisfaction of playing well within the limitations of the rules. That requires skill and there is great satisfaction and pride in achieving it within the rules.

Young players are not likely to understand this. They are more likely to play to win. They think that it is the winning only that makes the sport worthwhile. Of course that is not so. The heart of the sport is in playing the game well, always within the rules.

To a beginner this is not so easy. Inching a ball along a little, giving it a better approach, looks so tempting. Forgetting a count is so easy. Pushing an opponent in a game comes so easily and might just make the win. They have to learn that such tactics are what ruins the sport.

Summer is playtime for the children and the young people. Many of them will be trying out a sport for the first time. They must be held to the rules not only that they may learn about fair play, and manners of the game, but that they learn to play safely for themselves and others.

The younger crowd will be driving convertibles and again there are rules. The car must be in good condition; the driver must not take a drink of intoxicating liquor, positively not. Usually the driver is the young man and usually he is accompanied by the girl of the hour.

Courtesy, Safety. He should take this responsibility for what it is, a very grave one and observe every rule of the road — speeding, crowding another car, driving with one hand, staying out too late — breaches of the rules no gentleman should be guilty of making.

Boats are the delight of many young people. Boys and girls alike row, sail, steer motor boats, or are passengers on boats. Here again the rules must be obeyed. A motor boat should not get too near a row boat just to see it rock and to hear a girl scream. Rocking a boat is a bad breach of the rules.

It endangers all concerned. "All of us can swim," does not mean all are safe when a boat turns over.

Courtesy is the rule for all sports. That means consideration for the rights and feelings of others. On the road, on the water, on the courts and the links, good manners are basic to good sports.

While all sportsmen are not medal winners in their fields, they are all ladies and gentlemen when they play. Otherwise they are not playing the game.

Mrs. Minnie Luecker of Appleton, left, attended the 60th wedding anniversary of her daughter, Mrs. Robert Stammer, and son-in-law Friday when the Robert Stammers of 721 N. Meade street, celebrated the event with members of their family. Mrs. Luecker will be 97 in September, her daughter is 77, and Mr. Stammer will be 84 this fall. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Robert Stammers Married 60 Years

Sixty years of marriage were celebrated Friday by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stammer, 721 N. Meade street, who marked the occasion by gathering with family members.

Among those attending were Mrs. Stammer's mother, Mrs. Minnie Luecker of Appleton, who will be 97 years old in September, and the four Stammer children, Mrs. Con Riggles, Appleton; Mrs. W. W. Dougherty, Little Rock, Ark.; Clifford Stammer, Appleton, and Norbert Stammer, Weston, Conn.

Festivities opened with a family dinner at 1:30 at the Club Terrace, and later, the Stammers received callers at a family reception from 7 to 9 o'clock at their home.

The Stammers were wed July 4, 1898, at Appleton by the late Judge James Lennon. Mrs. Stammer, the former Dora Schmutz, was born Feb.

1881, in the town of Pewaukee, Waukesha county. She is 77 years of age. Her husband, who was born in the town of Freedom, Oct. 18, 1874, will be 84 years old this fall.

Mr. Stammer retired five years ago from his own interior decorating business. He and his wife are both active, with Mr. Stammer interested in oil painting and his wife, in crocheting.

The couple has 7 grandchildren and 7 great-grandchildren.

'Top Dollar' Problem Unsolved by Change

BY JINGO

"Top Dollar," one of the horde of quiz shows, had a big problem in mid-June, solved it and now is as much behind the 8-ball as before.

It became obvious a couple of weeks ago that Mrs. Rhoda Montorsi, a big winner, had not only learned huge chunks of the dictionary, but was skillfully playing a definite system.

The program features the old parlor game, ghost. The first player chooses a letter with which to start a word and the other players add a letter until a word of five or more letters is spelled out.

The use of Q, X and Z had been banned. When the alert Mrs. Montorsi left the show so were M, N, J and H. The program directors had discovered the first player could control the game in a 2-man contest by using these letters.

Then came Mrs. Alice Young, who walked out when the rule change was announced. She insists eliminating M, N, J and H puts control of the game with the second player. Of the 19 letters left, she said, only S remains uncontrollable from the second position.

The game has about as much suspense as a chess game. Few people care to watch professionals spelling out words they never heard nor are likely to encounter.

Jingo's Jewels: The "Donna Reed Show," a filmed family-comedy series, will begin on ABC-TV Sept. 24. . . CBS-TV will present "Harvey," Mary Chase's play about a man and imaginary rabbit friend, Sept. 22. . . Take a look at the movies in town for the holiday weekend: "No Time for Sergeants," "Around the World in 80 Days," "The Vikings," "Marjorie Morningstar," "Don't Go Near the Water," "The King and I," "Cinderella," "Witness for the Prosecution." Small wonder theaters were crowded on a rain-swept Fourth of July. These are just about the sum total of big pictures released in the last year.

"Where are the humorists, the pranksters, the fun-lovers of yore?" means Bob Thomas, the AP Hollywood columnist. "Have they been beaten down by the age of uncertainty? Or have they just been ignored by controllers of mass media?"

The noisiest force among young writers today is the beat generation cult, says Thomas, much of whose force would disintegrate if they were read with a sense of humor.

"The young people control the music industry today, because they're the ones who buy records. And look what they go for. The great mass of it is tasteless and humorless."

"The new funnymen work mostly in small night clubs where their satiric barbs can be enjoyed by an enlightened few. You see nothing like the great clowns — Chaplin, Lloyd, Keaton, Skelton, those whose insight appeals to the great mass of humanity."

Jaycees Reschedule 5th Annual Venetian Festival Celebration

Neenah — Postponed temporarily, due to inclement weather, the Neenah-Menasha Junior Chamber of Commerce Saturday began making preparations to stage the fifth annual Venetian Festival on Sunday at Riverside park.

Boat owners and entertainment units were contacted, artists were informed, and the chickens for the Jaycee chicken barbecue were left in the cooler. The Venetian Queen and her court were asked to put their Fourth of July attire back in the closet for another day.

By 3 o'clock Friday afternoon on a wet Independence day, a new schedule was set and citizens from the Twin City area are assured, weather permitting, of witnessing the celebration Sunday.

One casualty of the program, however, was the address by Rep. William K. Van Pelt of Wisconsin's Sixth district, who, due to a tight holiday schedule, will not be able to appear on the program.

On the eve of the program, postponed because of rain, the Venetian queen and her court were honored at a dinner at the Whiting boathouse. Venetian festival chairman Charles Littlefield was master of ceremonies. Guests included civic leaders, Venetian festival committee chairmen, and press representatives.

An entertainment group, the "Sons of Erin", and a decorating unit, the Senior Girl Scouts, who will decorate the flag day boat, were announced as last minute changes on the program.

As previously arranged, the outdoor art show will lead off tomorrow's program, beginning at 12 o'clock. More than 60 pieces of art will be on display. At 1:30 in the afternoon, the Oshkosh Civic band will present a concert. There will be games for the children beginning at 2:45 Sunday afternoon.

At 3:30 in the afternoon coronation ceremonies for the Venetian queen and her court will be held. From 4 to 6 o'clock chicken barbecue, prepared by the Jaycees for visitors to the festival, will be sold. The water ski show directed by Richard Kimberly, Neenah, will be presented at 6 o'clock Sunday evening.

A talent show will begin the evening's entertainment at 7 and 9:30. Confessions will be members will have services at 8 o'clock. At 8 o'clock "Music at the Waterfront", a program of recorded music, will be presented. As soon as darkness arrives, "A Carnival of Holi-meet Tuesday evening in the day evening. Neenah Civic Leader Plans To be Minister

Arvo E. Vaurio To Enrol in Fall For 3-Year Course

Neenah — A 43-year-old prominent Neenah civic leader announced today that he plans to enter the Presbyterian ministry and this fall will begin a 3-year course.

He is Arvo E. Vaurio, 970 Grove street, a member of the personnel organization of Kimberly-Clark corporation. He has been an active elder of the First Presbyterian church here and has been accepted as a student at Princeton Theological seminary. He will enter the seminary Sept. 26.

Vaurio explained that his decision is based on several years of careful consideration, during which he has taken an increasingly active part in lay work of the church, both in Neenah and on the state level with the Laymen's Conference committee.

The latter is an activity of the Wisconsin Council of Churches and presently he is program chairman for the 1958 conference.

Has Two Children

Married to the former Kay Poor, who was a speech correctionist with the Neenah public schools and more recently has been active in the Neenah-Menasha unit of the League of Women Voters, they have two daughters, Ann, 9, and Elaine, 6.

In his work with Kimberly-Clark, Vaurio has served in the personnel division both in Neenah and at the Niagara, Wis., plant and in the public relations department.

Prior to his Kimberly-Clark experience, Vaurio served as a personnel administrator with the navy department in Washington, D.C., as a civilian and as a naval reserve officer. His college training was in personnel administration in which he took a degree from the University of Minnesota in 1939, followed by graduate work at Minnesota and at Purdue university.

Vaurio has been a member of the First Presbyterian church of Neenah since 1947, except for two years when he lived in Niagara. He is a member of the Session, the local governing body of the church.

Headed Red Cross

Since 1954 he has served on various committees of the Laymen's Conference organization. He headed the Neenah Red Cross chapter for two years and now is serving as a director.

He has served on the National Brotherhood Week program, as general chairman of the Fox Cities organization in 1956 and now is chairman of the 6-county District II area.

Vaurio also was one of the organizers and currently is president of the Fox Valley Campers and Hikers association and is serving on a state advisory committee of that group.

Hospitalized are Peter L. Bylow, 18, 464 S. Commercial street, driver of the car, and Patricia Hyde, 17, 317 Second street. They were reported in good condition and X-rays are to be taken to determine the full extent of Bylow's injuries.

The car traveled another 37 feet parallel to the road where it struck and scraped off the bark of another tree. It then caromed off and continued another 27 feet at an angle before stopping. The front of the car was 27 feet from the roadway when the car stopped.

Sunglasses are Chic, Attractive Protection for Outdoor Activities

BY CAROL RICHARDSON
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Neenah — Active young sports and bathing beauties who prefer to bask lazily on the beach during the warm days of July and August will find gay sunglasses of every style and color to protect their eyes against glaring sun rays and to complement sports attire.

With so many attractive frames in optometrists' stocks, most people are willing to invest in good quality glasses rather than cheap brands which distort images and cause headaches, sleepiness and fatigue.

One Neenah optician demonstrated the difference between reliable ground glass and pressed sunglasses by inserting two pairs in a machine which projects vertical and horizontal lines on the lenses. The lines reflecting in the ground glass were perfectly straight and those in the pressed glass appeared wavy, like a finger painting.

Three lens shades are considered acceptable absorptive agents to screen infra red or heat rays, ultra violet or burning rays and to reduce the remainder of the spectrum so there is no appreciable color distortion. They are green, tan and neutral gray, the shade recommended for persons who are color blind.

While most people who are out in the sun need the protection of dark lenses, there are others whose eyes are adaptable to an extent that sunglasses aren't necessary. Each individual can judge for himself by the reaction of his eyes to bright lights.

Studies have shown there is a 50 to 90 per cent loss in eyes' sensitivity to light by exposing the eyes to bright sun. This loss may make night driving a danger and cause headaches for close work.

For active sportswear such as tennis, sailing and skiing, lenses can be safely hardened as a protective measure against accidents. Any reliable optician can give the necessary heat treatment.

Although headlights of on coming cars in heavy traffic on summer weekends can be nearly blinding, sunglasses should never be worn for night driving. While they will dim headlight glare, they also cut down visibility to a dangerous degree. To date, no safe glasses for night driving have been perfected.

Regular wearers of prescription glasses have been long aware of the importance and comfort of chic-looking sunglasses ground to their individual specifications. For sports, driving and reading in the sun, they are nearly indispensable and many wearers say if they could afford only a single pair of glasses, they would choose the colored lenses over their clear glasses.

The concave lenses prescribed for nearsighted people can be color-compensated with a layer of clear glass fused to the lens edges which are thicker than the centers. While the clip-on glasses are acceptable, a separate pair of colored glasses is advised if the wearer can possibly afford them.

No well-dressed woman would dream of owning only one hat or a single pair of shoes for the entire summer season, but many forget that sunglasses are an important accessory and wear the same pair all summer, not to mention winter when snow glare makes colored lenses a must for skiers.

Most summery-looking are frames of straw, shells and flowers. White frames are striking with summer tans and are also a good choice for winter. Striped, plaid and checked frames are gay and blend with many costumes, especially solid-color ensembles of black or white. Cool green shades as turquoise, green must or green, set off with a wide, white stripe, look refreshing as a mint julep when the thermometer registers 90 in the shade.

Wide bows are preferred by many people who find they help protect eyes from side rays. Sunglasses transmitting 10 to 20 per cent of the visible light were found to provide maximum comfort for most people in bright sunlight and some glasses on the market which transmit more than 40 per cent of the sun's rays offer little protection and are of no value.

Another point for the buyer to consider is color density. Lenses in one pair of glasses may vary in color while shades in glasses of the same style and model also vary sometimes, so the darkest pair should be chosen.

Gradient density lenses are darker on the tops of the lenses and are sold for special purposes. Polaroid glasses reduce brightness and have a special character which cuts glare-producing reflections almost completely.

Much glare encountered is not cut-down appreciably more by polaroids than by ordinary and equally dark sunglasses, but polaroids do offer an advantage in driving or skiing towards the sun. Plastic lenses are for the most part unacceptable because they transmitted over 35 per cent of infra-red rays and lenses are easily scratched.

Odd Shapes
Lenses of odd shapes often provide inadequate protection so it is important to select glasses which cover normal angles of vision, both vertically and horizontally and to protect eyes against peripheral light. Curved lenses enable the frame to sit closer to the eyes without the lenses resting on the eyelashes.

For a good frame fit, check the alignment adjustment of frames; they should be comfortable on the nose, temple and ears and not slide down on the nose.

In quarter-final matches, Williams turned back Red Loecker, 6-0, Hewitt defeated Alan La Selle 6-1, Cook won from Steve Williams 6-1 and Jahns was a 6-2 winner over Tom Diedrich.

Schultz, former Neenah High school and Louisiana State university player, defeated Dr. Don Ryan 6-1, 6-1 in the finals to win his title.

Schultz stopped Jim Young 6-0, 8-6 and Jim Curtis, the defending champion, 9-7, 6-2 while Dr. Ryan won from Bill Lawson 6-1, 6-1 and Norm Thiel 6-3, 6-1 in the semis.

Curtis had whipped Lynn Cooper 6-1, 6-0 and Thiel scored a 6-3, 3-6, 6-3 win over Paul Gross.

Each Side Had a Homer in the Menasha Macs' 4-3 win over Kaukauna Thursday night but the Mac blow accounted for two runs while the Klubbers' hit was good for only one. The top panel shows Jack Coenen about to cross the plate after cracking the Kaukauna homer in the third inning. He is greeted by Don Frank while catcher Tom Hilgenberg looks on. In the lower panel Clem Massey of the Macs is shown hitting the final start after his four base blow. Don Gosz extends his hand to congratulate the Mac shortstop while Hilgenberg unhappily looks on in the background. Massey's two-run homer accounted for the tying and winning runs in the sixth. Althea Gibson Retains Crown At Wimbledon

Comes From Behind To Beat Britain's Mortimer, 8-6, 6-2

Wimbledon, England — (U) — Althea Gibson from New York's Harlem strengthened her role as queen of women's tennis today by beating Angela Mortimer of Britain for her second straight Wimbledon championship. The score was 8-6, 6-2.

The 30-year-old American with everything going against her, had to stage a fighting rally to win the 40-minute opening set in which the British girl had one set point.

Falls Behind
Nettled by frequent footfault calls and a series of double-faults, Miss Gibson fell behind at 0-2, 2-4 and 3-5 before finally bringing her powerful, manlike service into harness.

When Miss Mortimer netted a drive at set point, Althea knotted the score at 5-5 and, after yielding one more game to the English girl's service, ran out the set.

The second set proved a runaway.

Miss Gibson got a tremendous ovation from the crowd of 17,000 persons jammed into the world's most famous tennis arena.

Cooper Wins
Australia's Ashley Cooper captured the men's singles title Friday with a 3-6, 6-3, 6-4, 13-11 victory over Neale Fraser, a fellow Aussie with whom he travels the tennis circuit.

It was the twelfth time the two players have met in major tournaments with Cooper winning nine times.

They played as though they knew exactly what the other man was going to do. In the fourth set, games went with service until Cooper broke through in the twenty-third game. Cooper went ahead 4-0 in the twenty-fourth and Fraser saved three match points before going down to defeat.

Cooper and Fraser had advanced to the men's doubles final by eliminating Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, and Mervyn Rose of Australia. Their opponents in the finals, Sven Davidson and Ulf Schmidt of Sweden had beaten the Italian pair of Nicola Pietrangeli and Orlando Sirola.

Two-Day Baseball School Attracts 37

Pitchers Hold Upper Hand in 11-Inning Silver Sluggers Tilt

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN

Post-Crescent Sports Editor

The selection of an all-star game representative in the coming weeks will be the most immediate—and tangible—result of the second annual Post-Crescent-Milwaukee Braves Silver Sluggers school, which concluded its term Thursday night.

But the attitude toward the game of baseball and the advice gleaned on how to play it better will have a potentially greater long-range effect for the 37 participants.

Only 19 of the 37 youths are eligible for consideration as an all-star selectee. The others are restricted from that honor because they still have high school athletic eligibility left.

Will Play Aug. 7

The successor to Darold Egert (1957 banner bearer from this school) will play on the out-state all-star team Aug. 7 in County stadium against a Milwaukee 'star' squad. The 2-day, expense-free trip will also include the viewing of two Braves games and a banquet.

Twelve newcomers at Goodland field Thursday swelled the first-day attendance total of 25. For its wind-up day, the school enjoyed a good evening, weatherwise, and the participants went through nearly four hours of running, throwing and actual competition under game conditions. The ground crew had done an excellent job readying Goodland field for the session after the hard rains of the day before. Wednesday's class was held in the Appleton YMCA gym.

The watchful scout-instructors—"Doc" Gautreau, Ernie Rudolph and Bill Edwards—offered helpful hints throughout Thursday's proceedings.

Gautreau, in charge of the sessions, commended the players for their "fine jobs" generally and for the "mental alertness" and offered this piece of philosophy:

"It's a pretty important thing when you pull on a baseball uniform. You represent: your town, your parents, your school and yourself."

Gautreau concluded his post-session remarks with, "Give it all you got at all times. If you don't, you're just wasting your time in this great game."

Seymour's Lynn Prellip proved the fastest player in the series of wind sprints that preceded the game.

Long Hits Scarce
The officials picked Appleton's Bill McGinnis as showing the best arm—both in terms of accuracy and distance—in throws from the outfield.

The game, which ran 11 innings (to give everyone a chance to play) belonged primarily to the pitchers. Ten hurlers chalked up a whopping total of 42 strikeouts among them.

Hortonville's Larry Huebner, for example, struck out five of the six men he faced in two

Mortell, Former AHS and UW Star, Visits Here for 1st Time in 10 Years

BY MIKE DREW

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Emmet Mortell, one of the greatest all-around athletes Appleton has ever produced, paid his first visit in 10 years to his old home town this week and was surprised at the many changes he found.

Mortell hasn't changed much, though. He's a bit heavier and grayer than he was 20 years ago when he was one of the National Football League's leading groundgainers. But, the powerful physique is easily detectable.

Mortell, now a spice salesman with headquarters in Columbus, Ohio, is approaching legendary status among sports old-timers here.

Earned 12 Letters
One of the few, perhaps the only, 12-letterman in Appleton High history, he went on to star in football at the University of Wisconsin and then became a professional in two sports, baseball and football.

That wasn't all. He starred in Appleton softball circles as a high schooler, and was an ace pitcher for a Madison softball team during his college years. He also wrote sports for the Post-Crescent.

Manitowoc and Menasha launch their second-round action Wednesday, at Manitowoc, in the season opener, banded Menasha its only first round defeat thus far, 3-2, in a 12-inning contest at John Strzyzewski bested Menasha's Ron Dibell, who left the Menasha club after signing a professional baseball contract with the Washington Senator organization.

NL Race Tightens As Redlegs Win Two From Pirates

By The Associated Press
No doubt about it. This is the closest National league race of modern times.

When the Philadelphia Phillies, suddenly on a come-alive drive, swept Friday's doubleheader at Milwaukee, 5-1 and 4-1, not only was the Braves' first place margin cut to 1 1/2 games, but last place Los Angeles moved within seven games of the top.

San Francisco blew a chance to regain second place from idle St. Louis, losing the second game to Chicago, 6-1, after a 5-run rally in the ninth had beaten the Cubs, 6-5, in the opener. The Phillies, a straggling seventh through June, gained a share of fourth place, 3 1/2 games behind Milwaukee, with the Cincinnati Redlegs, who swept Pittsburgh, 4-3 and 8-3. The Cardinals and Dodgers were idle, because of a previous booking in the Coliseum at Los Angeles. After seeing their four-run

The new Milwaukee dates include: At Pittsburgh, Aug. 12, night; at St. Louis, July 17; at Philadelphia, Aug. 10, as part of a doubleheader; at Cincinnati, Aug. 13, as part of a two-night doubleheader.

Foxes Idled Twice, Move To Davenport

The Fox Cities Foxes, idled two days by rain, will try to get in a contest tonight at Davenport. The Foxes are also scheduled to play the Davenport first-round champs in the Three-I league—Sunday.

After the Foxes' Thursday night game at Burlington was rained out, a doubleheader was scheduled for Fourth of July night. That holiday fare was also postponed, as were the other two scheduled league games.

In Thursday night's only contest, Cedar Rapids nosed out Winona, 7-6, to take over first place in the second-round race.

Menasha — The Menasha Macs nailed down a share of the first round championship in the Fox River Valley Baseball league by edging Kaukauna, 4-3, here Thursday night. Clem Massey's 2-run homer in the sixth was the deciding blow.

The Menashans can clinch the undisputed crown by defeating Oshkosh tonight in their final makeup game.

The Macs' Vic Stenson and Gerry Hopfensperger of the Klubbers hooked up in a neat pitchers' battle. Both allowed six hits. Stenson had eight strikeouts to "Hoppy's" seven. The Menasha pitcher walked four and his opponent issued one walk and hit another batter.

Score Single Runs

Kaukauna scored single runs in three innings and threatened in four other frames. The Macs also bunched their scoring into three frames and went down in order in only two innings.

The Macs opened the scoring with a marker in the second. Carl Springer singled, was sacrificed to second by Jack Konetzke, took third on "Bud" Koehnke's single and tallied on a fielder's choice play when he beat the throw to the plate on Ken Konetzke's infield ground-er.

Coenen Homers

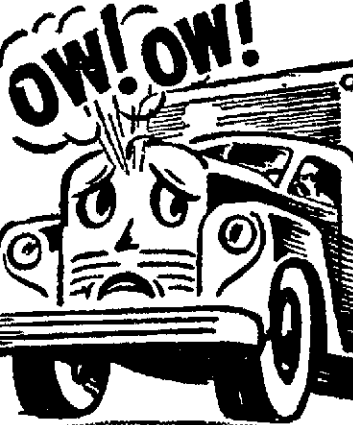

Jack Coenen belted Stenson's second pitch of the third inning over the left field fence to tie the score. The Klubbers went ahead 2-1 in the fourth. Tom Hilgenberg led off with a hit. He went to second when Carl Bowers walked, took third as Carl Frank forced Bowers at second and continued to the plate when second baseman Ken Konetzke made a bad throw to first while trying to complete the double play.

Massey led off the last of the fourth with a double. Springer was safe on an error and Massey took third when Koehnke forced Springer at second. Koehnke started to steal second in attempt to get himself in a run down which might enable Massey to score. The Kaukauna defense ignored Koehnke, made a play Massey at third but Hopfensperger threw wild and the Menasha shortstop tallied with the tying run.

Klubbers Take Lead

Kaukauna again went ahead in the sixth. Hilgenberg doubled took third on Paul Bethke's single and tallied on a hit by Bowers. Carl Frank walked to load the bases but Stenson came up with some stout heart.

NL Leaders' Loss Chain Grows to 4

Milwaukee — (U) — The Fourth of July has come and gone and so have the Philadelphia Phillies, much to the relief of the sputtering Milwaukee Braves. The Phillies completed a sweep of the 3-game series Friday by taking both ends of a holiday doubleheader from the National league leaders, 5-1 and 4-0. The slumping Braves now have lost their last four games.

The two losses chopped a full game off the Braves' lead and left them with a 1 1/2 game edge over second place St. Louis, which was idle Friday. San Francisco is third, two games back. Before the Phils invaded County stadium Thursday the Braves enjoyed a 3 1/2 game bulge.

12 Hits All Day

Once again, it was an anemia at the plate that beat the Braves. They collected only 12 hits all day—5 in the first game off Curt Simmons and seven in the nightcap off Jack Sanford. Worse yet, though, was their inability to score. They have scored only three runs in the last 45 innings, two of them on home runs.

Felix Mantilla's fifth homer kept Milwaukee from being shut out in the opener as Simmons recorded his sixth victory in 14 decisions with the help of Dick Farrell. He was the tenth left-hander to beat the Braves this season. Sanford also notched his sixth against six losses.

Carl Sawatski punished his old teammates in the first game, going 4-for-4 and driving in 3 runs. One of his hits was a homer, his second. Ed Bouchee collected three hits in four trips.

The loser for the fourth time was Bob Rush. He has won six. It marked the ninth straight time that the former Cub failed to go the distance. Relievers Ernie Johnson, Humberto Robinson and Gene Conley followed him to the mound.

Mantilla's homer came in the seventh with the Phillies holding a 4-0 lead.

Warren Spahn went the route in the nightcap to absorb defeat No. 5. He has won 10.

Kazanski Is Pesky

The Phillies raked him for two runs in the fourth and two in the sixth. Their peskiest tie in the second game was weak-hitting Ted Kazanski, who had two singles and a triple and two runs batted in. Bouchee, appearing in only his third game of the season, helped the cause with two hits to run his total for the series to six in 11 trips.

Hank Aaron smacked lead-off doubles in both the second and seventh innings and went to third each time on an infield out. But, there he stayed for the want of a base hit. The Braves had their best chance against Sanford in the eighth, loading the bases with two out. Aaron ended the threat by flying out.

Attendance Drops At Majors' July 4 Doubleheaders

By The Associated Press

Attendance was down about 34 per cent from last year for the July 4 doubleheaders in major league baseball.

The American league drew 78,645 for four twin bills and the National league counted 62,420 for three doubleheaders for a grand total of 139,065. Last year, when both leagues presented three doubleheaders and a single game, the American drew 110,785 and the National 100,521 for a total of 211,306.

That's a decrease of 34,140 in the American and 38,101 in the National.

der separation. "Just some of my old freshman team buddies from Notre Dame," he remembers, smiling.

Mortell played in a couple of games at the end of the season after recovering from the injury.

The next season Mortell was a regular halfback under Badger Coach "Doc" Spears.

About 9 o'clock one Saturday morning, Mortell remembers, Spears asked Emmet if he could call signals that afternoon against heavily favored Purdue. Mortell, who hadn't played the position before, quarterbacked the Badgers to a major upset.

Combined Locks native Richard "Red" Smith was the UW assistant grid coach under Spears, says Mortell, and whenever Emmet wondered what play to call that afternoon he looked to the sidelines and Smith would flash a signal.

Drafted By Eagles

"Smith was the ideal assistant coach, Mortell opines. "He was always able to heal any grievances between the players and the head coach."

Mortell still sees "Red," now a brewery executive in Toledo (O.), occasionally.

Because his original college class had graduated, Mortell's name was on the NFL draft list before the 1937 season and the Philadelphia Eagles (then coached by the current league president, Bert Bell) drafted him. Meanwhile, Smith—who was working for the Milwaukee Brewers baseball club in the summertime—signed Mortell to a pro baseball contract. This was even though Mortell had since before entered high school.

Emmet justified Smith's faith, however, by hitting .300 while dividing the season between the Class B Montgomery (Ala.) and Class D Hopkinsville, (Ky.) franchises.

At the end of the season Mortell swung right into his first National Football league action. He played alongside such Eagle greats as quarterback Davey O'Brien and defensive end Bill Hewitt.

Regrets Decision

It was about this time that Mortell had to choose between playing pro baseball and football, he says, "I've regretted all of my life." Though he was the second smallest player on the Eagles (after O'Brien) at 183 pounds, he decided on football.

"I made from $125 to $175 a game in big league football which was more than I picked up each month in minor league baseball," Mortell remembers, "and that decided me."

Emmet believes now that even though he had much more to learn in baseball his future there was more promising.

Quits in 1941

As it turned out, Mortell played just two more seasons for the Eagles. He finished his grid career with the professional Wilmington (Del.) Dupont "11." A solid club which was composed of pro veterans, like himself, and college grads who weren't quite ready for the big leagues, the Duponts beat the Eagles on one occasion. Emmet hung up his cleats for the last time in 1941.

He worked for the U. S. Navy during World War II and then joined a Philadelphia meat packing firm as a salesman. He's been in his present position about four years.

Pro football is more a game of speed and pass defense than it was when he played, Mortell believes.

"For example," he asserts, "in the Cleveland-Detroit playoff game last year the Lions spotted a weakness in the Browns' defensive secondary and boom, a rout was on."

"The pro game is more enjoyable to watch now," he admits. "Then, if you had a 14-point lead at any time, the opposition was sunk. Now 14 points can be erased in five minutes."

Mortell and his wife—a fashion copyrighter for a large Columbus department store—are visiting in Appleton with Emmet's parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Mortell. Two of Emmet's three brothers and all three of his sisters are still residing in the area.

'We're Tired,' Says Haney

By Chuck Capaldo

Milwaukee — Since 1901, 58 per cent of the National league teams in first place on July 4 have gone on to win the pennant.

But right now those odds don't look favorable enough to Manager Fred Haney of the front-running Milwaukee Braves.

The reason is that the worst hitting slump of the season has fastened itself onto the world champions, limiting them to only three runs in their last five games, four of which they've lost in a row.

"We had slumps last year," Haney observed, "but I don't think we ever looked this bad. We dropped five straight on our last road trip, but at least we scored some runs."

The Braves now lead second place St. Louis by only 11 games. San Francisco is third, two games behind, and Philadelphia and Cincinnati are tied for fourth 34 back.

"It's one of those things," said Haney. "Maybe when we finally break loose, we'll be gone for good. If we hope to break this race wide open, we have got to start hitting soon. I hope we don't have to go down to the wire—I want to pull away. The sooner, the better."

Haney declined to pick the one club he thought had the best chance to overhaul the Braves, and he said he does not plan a wholesale shakeup of his club.

Few Escape Slump

"What can I shake?" he asked. "I've shaken about as far as I can with the players I have."

Few of Haney's regulars have eluded the slump. Figures for the last five games show Red Schoendienst 1 for 17; Eddie Mathews 3 for 17;

Nixon's Skill in Use To Save Republicans

But Adams Probably Will Leave His Office by Labor Day, White Predicts

BY WILLIAM S. WHITE

Washington — All the extraordinary and icy skill of Vice President Richard M. Nixon as the master politician of the Republican party is being engaged by the Sherman Adams affair.

Few men have less reason to feel unhappy at Adams' troubles. It was Sherman Adams, as assistant to the president, who shouldered Nixon out of the way to become for a time the acting president when Eisenhower had his heart attack.

And when Nixon himself was in difficulties in 1952 over contributions from rich backers, he was left alone to work out his own rescue. Nobody connected with Adams wept for Nixon then.

Already the bulk of GOP leaders are in the "Adams must go" school. If Nixon should join that school, Adams would go, indeed. Even if the president should then insist that he stay on, his position would be so intolerable that he would have to make an excuse to depart.

Nevertheless, Nixon has not turned on Adams. His intuitive smell of political reality is far more acute than that of either Adams or Eisenhower.

Proceeds Carefully

And it is because of his acute political awareness that Nixon is proceeding so carefully. In a word, somebody must save the GOP, to the extent it can be saved, and he is elected for the job.

The vice president accordingly is not limiting his freedom of action. He is not participating in the Adams defense councils within the administration. Neither is so powerful a Nixon associate as William P. Rogers, the attorney general.

Rogers privately has made it clear that he is standing apart — as, indeed, in propriety he must as the chief legal officer of the United States and the occupant of a semi-judicial post.

Nixon is under no such restraints. His position of aloofness — and that is what it is — is dictated by his necessities as the outstanding Republican "pro."

In their difficult task, about the best hope the pros have is from an unlikely source — the very house committee that is investigating Adams' relations with Bernard Goldfine. Only if that committee should fall on its face in the most spectacular way—a way that would outrage the country and turn, public sympathy around toward Adams—could the presidential assistant's position be made at all tenable.

Won't Be Foolish

There is, of course, little possibility of the committee will be so foolish. True, it seemed to be headed in the direction of self-destruction in the leeway granted to the anti-Adams, anti-Goldfine witness, John Fox of Boston. Fox's obvious animus, with its overtones of a new kind of McCarthyism, did the committee no good.

But the committee knows as much and will be on guard not to err again.

Thus, in summary, what is most likely to happen is this: Adams undoubtedly will go along in his job for a while, maybe even as long as two months, assuming that further investigation does not put him in a worse light than at present.

But the odds are at least three to one he will not be around here long after Labor day. His departure, if it comes, will not be by any act of the president. Instead, matters will be so arranged that Adams himself will announce that though he has done nothing wrong, he is compelled to confess that he has become a liability.

Change Meeting Of Area Planning Executive Unit

A meeting of the executive committee of the Fox Valley Regional Planning commission, scheduled for last Thursday, was postponed and will be held at 7 o'clock Thursday evening, July 10, prior to the quarterly meeting of the full commission in the Appleton council chambers.

The quarterly meeting had been postponed from June to July in hope various city councils would act on the proposal to hire an outside planning agency to prepare a regional master plan.

However, neither Appleton nor Neenah has taken action. It is doubtful a vote of the commission can be taken at the meeting.

The outline of what has been done in the planning office, what remains to be done and the best way to do it will be presented to the executive committee by Planning Director Clarence Hammond Thursday night.

Holiday Rain Measures 1.33 In Fox Cities

Shower Activity Keeps Residents Home, Downtown

Rainfall measuring 1.33 inches made Independence day in the Fox Cities a somewhat soggy affair.

Area residents forced indoors by the shower activity could take some heart today in the fact that their plight was shared by most other Wisconsinites and thousands of out-of-staters vacationing in the north. Rainfall, weathermen said, was general.

The rain evidently kept more people in the Fox Cities than is normal for a Fourth of July weekend. Streets and parking lots in downtown Appleton were crowded Friday night as people flocked to movie houses, restaurants and night spots.

The highest temperature in Appleton Friday was 69, according to the Wisconsin Michigan Power company. The overnight low was an even 60 and the mercury was back to 65 by mid-morning despite sullen skies and a 12-mile-per-hour west wind.

Clearing Skies
Forecasters say skies should clear today with partly cloudy conditions prevailing Sunday. Temperatures will be slightly below seasonal normals for the remainder of the weekend, with highs ranging in the 70s and lows in the 60s. Scattered showers are expected to hit portions of the state today and Sunday.

The rain, while it curtailed social activities, was welcomed by farmers.

Elsewhere in the nation, a blanket of high humidity wrapped up an area extending from the plains eastward through the Ohio valley and Gulf states to the Atlantic seaboard. A tornado was sighted south of Garden City in southwestern Kansas Friday but it apparently did not touch earth.
